P R E F A C E.

THE purpose for which the Register was compiled is set out as an Inscription opposite the first entries, and this has been reproduced verbatim. The use of such a Register has been explained in the various Handbooks upon the subjects of Hallmarks and Old Silver Plate. It is only therefore necessary to call attention here to such matters as may be of assistance to anyone using the Register or are likely to escape notice.

To prevent the possibility of confusion, it should be mentioned at the commencement that the marks here reproduced were entered for use upon Silver Wares, and that they have only within the last seven years become applicable to Gold Wares also. The marks of the makers of the modern Electro Plate and what is commonly called "Old Sheffield Plate" are both entirely outside the scope of this book, the marks of the latter having already formed the subject of a separate publication.

The Sheffield Assay Office was established in 1773 under 13 Geo. III. Cap. 52, and in consequence of the provisions of that Act, combined with the poor facilities for the transit of merchandise which then prevailed, the entries from 1773 to 1854 consist almost entirely of those of local manufacturers. This is clearly the reason for the frequent omission of the word "Sheffield" from the addresses, as the name of the street was then quite sufficient. In the latter part of 1854 an Act came into force which enabled manufacturers to send their wares to any Assay Office they might select. This Act, 17 and 18 Vict. Cap. 96, together with the modern desire of the retailer to sell articles bearing his own mark, has resulted in the addition of a large number of entries of persons outside Sheffield, so that the Register is now no longer purely a local one.

The names and addresses in the Pre-Victorian entries are given exactly as they appear in the Register, but in the later entries details of partnerships have been omitted and the name of the firm only has been given. In some cases manufacturers have used the same design of mark for a long term of years and new entries have become necessary, from time to time, in consequence of the punches wearing out, or from other causes. Under circumstances such as these the original entry only has been given.

When a manufacturer has several addresses entered upon the Register, the principal place of business only has been given.

A few misplaced entries have been re-arranged in the proper order of their dates for convenience in reference: and occasionally dates and words have been inserted for explanatory purposes. The latter have been printed in italics leaving the large type to show the entries as they appear in the Register.

The method employed in recording the marks consisted of smoking the face of the punch and then impressing it upon the page of the Register, against which impression the other particulars of the entry were recorded. The portions of the mark depressed by the punch thus appear in black, the letters being shown in white.

The process of reproduction employed has been to enlarge the photograph of the impressions in the Register and then to correct any defects in the enlargements. These enlargements were afterwards reduced and etched upon zinc, the final reproductions being somewhat larger than the original.
